

Hi Friends,

With life coming back to near normal after years of COVID-19, it is reassuring that life and practice is back to what it was pre-COVID.

The lessons learned from the episode should always be in our consciousness to be prepared for any challenge. The fact that dentistry was feared to be one of the most affected was proved wrong by the fraternity by embracing high levels of infection control and protocols. Let us hope the worst is behind us.

The on-site conferences are also back with a bang and it is really nice to catch up with near and dear from CAESOK after a long time. Special thanks to the members and the executive committee for the support and trust.

Thanks are also due to all authors, contributors, reviewers and Jaypee Brothers Medical Publishers for their efforts.
